ALGER HISS: 'I'M SURE OF ULTIMATE VINDICATION'

A CARMEL VALLEY INTERVIEW WITH A MAN SHROUDED IN POLITICAL CONTROVERSY ...

BY PAT GRIFFITH

The broad lawn at the front of the Meyer Zeligs' home on Country Club Drive faces due east, giving a long, uninterrupted view of rolling hills and distant mountains. It is a setting of great beauty and deep peace, an oak-sheltered niche far removed from the bustling marbled corriders of the nation's capital where history is shaped.

Last week a man whose name is indelibily written into the turbulent political history of the decade that followed World War II basked in the sunshine and serenity of the Zeligs' patio in Carmel Valley. Just the mention of his name evokes bitter controversy and white-hot passions, although 20 years have passed since he was front page news.

Alger Hiss.

His name reverberates through the years like the crack of a pistol. Clerk to Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Government attorney during the New Deal. State Department adviser and director of Office of Special Political Affairs. Secretary General of the San Francisco Conference for the United Nations. President of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. After two trials convicted of perjury in 1950 on the basis of testimony by Whittaker Chambers, ex-communist and senior editor of Time Magazine. Ex-convict.

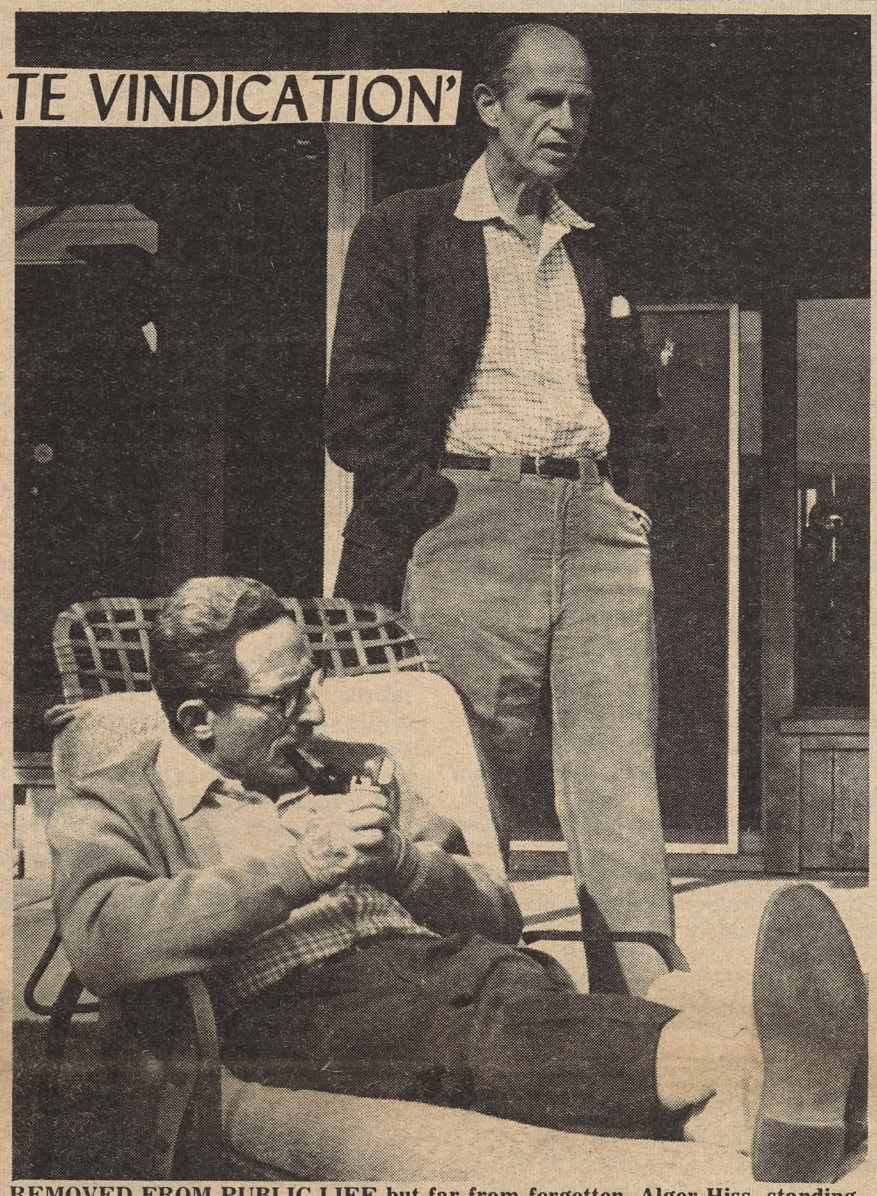
While the intervening years have not been kind to Alger Hiss, they seem to have left him with few physical or psychological scars. Lanky and lean, his hair a salt-and-pepper grey, he could easily pass for 15 years younger than he is (65).

Perhaps even more surprising, he continues to have a calm detachment about himself and the angry tempest that swirls around him. He betrays no hint of self-pity or self-defeat, no angry recrimination or terse bitterness.

"I'm certainly not conscious of bitterness," he said. "I'm sure of ultimate vindication. The score will be righted in time, I don't know when.

"I'm more dubious now that it will happen in my lifetime. But it will happen in my children's or grandchildren's lifetime.

"Of course it's important to me," he smiled, "but it's also important to the country to have it happen."



REMOVED FROM PUBLIC LIFE but far from forgotten, Alger Hiss, standing, takes a long-range, almost detached view of his abrupt fall from public grace 20 years ago. Convicted on two counts of perjury, Hiss has steadily maintained his innocence, a view shared in recent years by Dr. Meyer Zeligs, seated, a prominent San Francisco psycho-analyist and Carmel Valley resident. Dr. Zeligs has written an exhaustive study of the case, "Friendship & Fratricide: An Analysis of Whittaker Chambers and Alger Hiss," in which he delves deeply into the backgrounds and psychological makeup of the two men. - Photo by George T.C. Smith

NOT SEEKING VINDICATION

He doesn't know who or what will come forth to clear his name. But this "sense of historosity," as his friend and biographer, Dr. Zeligs, calls it, enables him to relax and enjoy the present. He is not a man frantically searching the country for vindication.

"I'm basically comfortable with myself," he said simply. "Oh, I have certain elements of anger or annoyance or disapproval about some things we did, or weren't able to do, during the trials. But I don't think it adds up to bitterness."

Hiss feels that public hysteria of what was to become known as the "McCarthy era" was responsible for his conviction on two counts of perjury.

"Partly I was the victim of a terribly disturbed man, a man who could not tell reality from his own fevered imaginations," Hiss said. "Plus the fact I was convicted not really on the basis of facts, but on the hysteria and emotions of the time.

"I still think that an ordinary jury, without pressure of hysteria, would have had no difficulty in choosing between Chambers and Hiss as far as to which one of us was telling the truth. The whole case, after all, was based on Chambers' charges and personal documents. There was no other testimony or evidence against me."

While the trial verdict ruined Alger Hiss professionally and politically, it gave a great boost to a young California Congressman, Richard Nixon. As a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, Nixon pressed the investigation of the Hiss-Chambers case in what he was later to describe as his "First Crisis."

Hiss today, however, is wary of any comments about President Nixon.

"I think time will tell how he is doing," he said cautiously. "I think it's very early yet. I do think he has had extraordinary good fortune."

For the last 10 years, Hiss has worked for Davison-Bluth, Inc., a New York commercial printing and stationery firm. His lively interest in international events and the United Nations continues unabated.

"The United Nations," he observed, "was never intended to be and cannot be an independent governmental authority. It's an association of nations. In a sense, it's like a club.

APPRAISES THE U.N.

"I think the UN has not been a failure, as I hear from people who expect the UN to be more powerful than the United States and the USSR and tell them to be good.

"What it has done in the technical fields -- the Children's Fund, the World Health Organization, in agriculture, labor, aeronautics -- has been very important. With the number of new nations that came about with the end of empires you had to have multilateral economic agreements, and these are worked out through the UN.

"And on the political front," he added, "it is a sounding board, a center where the Big Powers, when they want to harmonize policies, can meet."

A fascinated observer of the troubled contemporary scene, Hiss is spending much of his time researching another period of social upheaval and reform, the days of the early New Deal.

He hopes to capture in print the atmosphere of youthful vitality and idealism that permeated Washington as he knew it in the 1930's, and he plans to draw some interesting parallels with the protest evident today.

"I see many similarities between that time and what we are undergoing now," Hiss said. "Both periods followed a time of affluence and self-satisfaction when everything seemed to be running smoothly and we thought it would last forever.

"There's another parallel in the idealism of the young people dissatisfied with the smug values that preceded them, and also by threats to them. We young people of the '30s were strongly affected by revulsion of World War I. Novels like "All Quiet on the Western Front" and plays such as "What Price Glory" were typical of the anti-war culture of our time. There's more of this now because the threat is greater -- there's the draft."

Also during the '30s, Hiss continued, " you had photographers like Margaret Bourke-White showing what poverty was like, and there was a great moral upsurge, a feeling of moral concern for one's fellow citizens which is not true in a time of affluence.

"At the present time, morals are talked about in a different way than in the 1950's, when people were too sophisticated or embarrassed to talk about morality."

And just as the ferment of the 1930's produced great social changes, Hiss expects many reforms will come in the '70s.

"Reforms have to bring about an end to military adventurism, such as we have in Viet Nam. We've got to enlist the enthusiasm of the young people so they feel this is their country.

"And the same for Negroes. You can't have 20 million people who think this is not their country."

NEED FOR UNITY

Hiss would like to see the nation united, not by repressive leadership, "but with the kind of unity we had in the '30s. There was plenty of criticism of Roosevelt. Just about all the papers were against him. But the bulk of the people were his loyal supporters."

He doesn't know who this gifted new leader will be -- "for awhile it looked as if it might be Bobby Kennedy," he noted -- but he is confident this country will continue to produce leaders when they are most needed.

His deep faith in his country and the system that governs it is unshakeable.

"I do not regard myself as a supporter of the status quo," he said. "But I don't know any better system than the system of laws and not of men.

"But it all depends on the quality of the laws. We have lived as a country that has continually modified its laws, producing reform law after reform law. We must keep doing that."

The Alger Hiss of 1970 is not preoccupied with the remarkable events of 1948-50 that so drastically changed his life. As Dr. Zeligs observed in his psycho-analytic study, "Friendship and Fratricide":

"His image of himself is more important to him than the public reverberations set in motion by the jury's verdict. This sense of propriety, deeply etched into his character by the events of his childhood, antedated the lawyer-like sense of logic about life. Neither his demeanor nor his values have changed since he was convicted. With an unfettered conscience and an abiding optimism that history will prove him innocent, Alger Hiss, the person, remains superfluous to his case and immune to the public image it cast up."

HOODS SEEK TO REASSURE THE CVPOA ...

WILL PLANES BE MORE OR LESS OF A NUISANCE AT VALLEY AIRSTRIP?

The Carmel Valley airstrip will be safer to use, better policed and more attractive.

This is the essence of what Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Hood told the Carmel Valley Property Owners Assn. when they appeared at a board of directors meeting Thursday evening at the Community Center.

The Hoods -- both licensed pilots -- have leased the airfield at Carmel Valley Village, and plan to operate a charter air service out of the field, serving the entire Peninsula area.

The flyers were invited to discuss the development of the strip before the CVPOA board, some of whom have been concerned about safety and noise factors should there be many more planes flying in and out.

A great many questions were aimed at the flyers -- not all of them friendly. But they answered them all with expertise, and if the CVPOA plans any action to halt any of their plans, it was not apparent at the end of the dialog.

Hood made it very plain that he believed the airstrip would be a vast improvement over the former arrangement, when the strip was completely unmanaged.

In fact, he said that there would be fewer planes using the strip because for the first time (at least in a great many years) control would be exercised over all planes landing or taking off.

"This is now a private airfield," he said, "and we have the right to limit its use, except in emergencies. We are now prohibiting all touch-and-go activity by student pilots. We can do this. They can do all their practicing at municipal airports, which cannot entirely prohibit them. This will reduce the main complaint we have heard about any over-use of the Carmel Valley strip."

Hood added that he has notified all other airports in the area, as well as flying schools, about this restriction.

He is also putting a stop to hot-rodders and cyclists from racing up and down the field -- use, which in his opinion, contributed more of a noise problem than the small planes which fly in and out.

CONTROL CHILDREN, TOO

As to safety, he pointed out that children playing on the runways in itself was a major safety problem, as some of them in the past have openly challenged planes.

Such activity is now being controlled, and Hood and his wife said they had received excellent cooperation from the children.

"We intend to build a fence around the field - red wood stakes with fencing. This will help control trespassers, and will make the field more attractive, as we also intend a big landscaping program as well," he added.

Questioned about his own plans, Hood said that he and his wife have 2 planes - a 4-place Cessna Skylane, and a 6-place Cessna Super Skylane -- and will provide a charter service as requested. He said he would offer no flying lessons, but that will all the improvements planned the strip might be used more by local residents. He said many have already contacted him about this, and that he expected that from 25 to 50 private pilots might eventually park their planes here.

No jets, he emphasized, would use the field. And student pilots, whom he estimated made up 80 percent of the use before, would be eliminated.

He denied that the field was unsafe, or that special skills were needed to land or take-off. "After all," he said, "every pilot is a skilled pilot. He is licensed, and he must from time to time renew his qualifications."

He also denied that Tularcitos School is at all endangered. "It is not on any flight path," he stated. They will have an established recommended flight path for both take-offs and landing, so that the fewest possible homes would be at all endangered.

Queried as to night flying, Hood said that he is considering installing lights that could be actuated from his own aircraft but that no night flying would be normal.

He went on to say that he is installing a Unicom VHF ground-to-air radio, so that he could communicate with all planes requesting use of the field. There is no problem in communicating, he said, because all uncontrolled airports have the same frequency.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, he said, has been informed of all their plans.

NO HANGARS

These also include installation of fuel service, but no maintenance buildings or hangars. While the runways will be resurfaced, the present 1800-ft. strips will not be extended, although he had indicated a ravine at the east end of the strip would be filled in for safety reasons.

John Dowdakin, a board member, expressed concern over both noise and safety. "This valley is just like an echo chamber. We have had a quiet valley." About the same moment what should drift in but the familiar sound of a small plane flying fairly low -- an unusual occurrence for 9:30 p.m. Dowdakin also observed that the field was dangerous to use, and that only skilled pilots could do so safely.

A visitor, himself the owner of a plane, spoke up. Bill Callendar remarked that the kind of questions directed at the Hoods were not pertinent. State and federal aeronautic officials are established to handle complaints.

The strip, which has been there since 1938, is listed in all manuals. Few if any accidents have ever happened, and on many occasions it has served as an emergency landing field. The owner, Peter Del Fino, has granted a long-term lease to the Hoods.

Ed Lee, CVPOA president, thanked the Hoods for appearing. While everyone present may not have approved of all the answers heard, in many areas they were probably reassured.

TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

When President Nixon asked Congress last fall for approximately $200 million in the 1970 Public Works Appropriations bill for grants to states for water pollution abatement facilities, Congress immediately raised it to $800 million. That is a good indication of the increasing public interest in this important effort to improve our environment, which is now sweeping the nation.

Carmel bids fair to profit from this movement in the campaign of its Sanitary District to pass an $1.5 million bond issue to update its present sewage treatment plant. Everyone agrees that this is badly needed. Many people think that $1.5 million is not enough to do a good job but if the Federal Government will contribute another million or so, it will certainly be enough to make a good start and it is a question now of backing the requested bond issue or slipping back to a dangerous situation.

How can anyone decide to vote against the bond issue, when the alternative is fairly understood? If no bonds are approved, we shall have to go on a pay-as-you-go basis. This means that the present tax rate of 41c will probably go up to as much as $1.00. If the bonds are issued, it will only go up to 53c.

A vote against the bond issue on March 24 is a vote in favor of returning to the Chick Sale era. This is one aspect of our modern civilization where progress can only be in one direction.

Sincerely,
C. EDWARD GRAVES
Hacienda Carmel

Dear Editor:

Carmel had a lot more charm in 1939 when it became known as the Little City in the Forest than it has today. At that time the Carmel Sanitary District planned and built a sewage treatment plant that could treat over a million gallons per day, and with current improvements has met all prescribed sanitary standards for the last thirty years.

By 1967 population growth and the charm of the Carmel area had attracted so many people, the need for a greater capacity plant was recognized and a master plan was formulated to treat three to four million gallons of sewage per day (the estimated need through 1985).

The Central Coastal Regional Water Quality Control Board has urged the communities on the Peninsula to investigate area-wide sewage collection and disposal. The Carmel Sanitary Board is heeding that advice and has followed it in the past.

Did you know that the Carmel plant collects and treats the sewage from the following Carmel River basin areas and sub-divisions: Carmel Meadows, Carmel High School, Carmel Point, Carmel Knolls, Carmel Woods, Carmel Rancho, Hatton Fields, Carmel Views No. 1, Mission Fields, Hacienda Carmel, High Meadows, Lower Carmel Hills, Rio Way Tract, and others? We must realize that if our Sanitary District hadn't followed a regional system, we would literally be floating in septic tanks.

But what happens now when all of us have come to realize the dangers of pollution to the Bay, whether from pesticides or raw sewage, and we join with our neighbor Pebble Beach to up-grade our treatment and take positive steps to avoid ruining Carmel Bay and beaches?

Certain people in our community are attempting to defeat the $1,500,000 bond issue to rebuild our treatment plant by spreading statements to the effect that Pebble Beach sewage is to be treated at the expense of the taxpayers of Carmel Sanitary District; that the 600-foot outfall would not be needed if Pebble Beach's sewage was not treated; that the Carmel Sanitary District Board is satisfied with only primary treatment.

Every one of the above allegations is untrue. Here are the facts!

1. The Carmel Sanitary District plant has to be replaced and updated NOW to enable treatment of present and anticipated sewage loads even without the addition of the Pebble Beach sewage.

2. The Pebble Beach Sanitary District is paying one-third of the cost of the new plant and one-third of operating expenses.

3. It will be 15 years before the present and estimated growth of Pebble Beach will generate one million gallons of sewage of the projected three to four million gallon plant treatment plant.

4. The Water Quality Control Board has directed the Sanitary District to proceed immediately with the construction of the proposed 600-foot outfall and completion by September 1, 1970. The Carmel Citizens Committee has suggested postponement of the outfall line if possible.

5. There is no other financially feasible way at the moment to dispose of treated sewage than through the proposed outfall line. The State, through the Porter-Cologne Act, could assess our Sanitary District taxpayers $6,000 per day -- yes, six thousand -- if unsatisfactorily treated effluent is dumped into the ocean.

6. The Carmel Sanitary Board has planned the treatment plant so that the various units are a step toward secondary treatment.

7. If the Federal government supplies the one million plus of matching funds which can reasonably be expected, full secondary treatment is possible.

8. The Carmel Citizens Committee has urged full secondary treatment. As technical advancements make it feasibly possible, our objective is complete reclamation of water.

9. The Carmel Sanitary District is the only District on the Monterey Peninsula that has taken positive steps to provide a regional sewage disposal service.

10. On March 24, let us take the positive action to remove the "Cease and Desist" order off our backs by voting "YES" for the bond issue!

IN ATTEMPTING to research the Cachagua situation we unearthed the following: "Los Padres Dam is nearing completion. We went on an unescorted unofficial sight seeing trip last Sunday and to our inexperienced eye it appeared that there was little left to do. There was some grading still going on and the space between the concrete spillway and the side of the mountain still has to be filled in. At the bottom of the dam, some water had accumulated after the heavy rain. The road nearing the site is muddy and it is not advisable to drive up there at this time. Incidentally for those interested in going past Jamesburg on the Tassajara road, don't go. This road is narrow and in bad condition and only navigable by 4-wheel drive jeep." ... SHADES OF JEAN HARLOW, Carole Lombard, and Ginger Rogers! Fashions so old they're new may be purchased on Saturday at the Bargain Fair to be held at the Carmel High School Gym from 9:00-3:30. Proving that any garment once in vogue will come around again on the style cycle if you just wait long enough are Kim Baker (black hostess pajamas), Heidi Hattan (cranberry satin glamour gown) and Liz Korver (sepia and white lounging pajamas). The bell bottom pants contributed by one of the many generous donors to the Padre Parents Club sponsored event could have been purchased in any of today's boutiques.

$4,000 BUDGET SET FOR C.V. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOR 1970

A $4,000 budget for 1970 was presented to the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce last week by Chuck Strathmeyer, president.

He outlined his program for the current year at a board of directors meeting at the Rancho del Monte Country Club.

Projected income was based on 100 memberships at $25 each, totaling $2,500 and $1,500 from the advertising fund available from the County of Monterey. The latter fund must be spent in its entirety on an authorized advertising program.

Strathmeyer estimated that expenses should be allocated as follows:

ADMINISTRATIVE --Secretary, $720; Guest lunches, $36; Installation dinner, $144; Good Egg Awards, $60.

OPERATIONAL -- Postage & Box Rent, $120; Misc. printing, $120; Donations, $120; Misc. expenses $180.

PROJECT EXPENSES -- Publicity, public relations, advertising, $2,000.

CONTINGENT EXPENSES -- (to surplus) $448.

The board approved the donation of $120 to the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center, an amount which the chamber has been giving each year.

HAVE 35 MEMBERS

Raz Belleci, treasurer, reported that 35 members have paid their 1970 dues already. As of Febr. 20, the chamber had a total of $1,380.54 on hand.

Last year the chamber had a total membership of 90.

Strathmeyer announced the resignation of Herb Brownell, long active in the Valley chamber; he then named a committee of Lou Gardner, Lou Allaire and Paul Porter to recommend another Chamber member to succeed Brownell on the board of directors. Their recommendation will be acted on at the April meeting.

NAMES NEW COMMITTEES

Strathmeyer also announced membership on special Chamber committees. They are as follows:

BUDGET -- Robert Kvenild, chairman; Raz Belleci and Charles Lunt, Jr.

CARMEL ART ASSOCIATION SELECTS NEW LIGHT SYSTEM

After long consideration the Board of Directors of the Carmel Art Association selected a new lighting system for the galleries and now the paintings, drawings, and sculpture are to be seen in a fresh, new light.

Although winter has been traditionally a time of doldrums, the local scene has changed. The admission of fifteen new members to the Carmel Art Association has resulted in more lively shows. The February show was enlivened by many exciting canvasses.

Residents fear road-widening would scar Los Tulares area

Residents of the Los Tulares area, east of the Village, are taking steps to oppose a County Road Department plan to widen Carmel Valley Road, which would further scar the slope above the Road.

Several property owners appeared at the board of directors meeting of the CVPOA last week and asked for their support in halting the project.

Mrs. Bill Norton of Los Tulares and Ilbert Tucker, representing Subud, told the board that they understood that the road widening, along a section of Carmel Valley Road which was damaged by Carmel River erosion last year, would blight the area.

They reported that the road would be widened to 40 feet for about 350 feet just east of the entrance to the Los Tulares subdivision. It is presently 25 feet wide.

The project calls for removing a number of trees, and cutting into the slope above the road, heightening the scar. Work is scheduled to start in April.

President Ed Lee indicated that action should be taken to hold a public hearing on the matter if the facts warranted, and said that the CVPOA would contact Supervisor Willard Branson in regard to the matter.

CLUSTER DEVELOPMENT

Stanley T.B. Johnson gave the board a preliminary report on guidelines which a Preview Committee might consider in reviewing plans for cluster developments in the Valley, a program called for in the Hillside Conservation amendment to the County Zoning ordinance.

Johnson listed these items which this committee should require of each cluster developer:

Fire prevention and fire control.

Surface drainage, including drainage onto property at a lower level.

Erosion control, both during and following construction.

Subsurface drainage, including sewage.

Esthetics, assuring retention of rural appearance.

REAFFIRM STAND ON ORDINANCE

The board also agreed to continue to press for adoption of its stand on three controversial points they have proposed for the Hillside Conservation amendment to the County Zoning Ordinance.

These have been rejected twice by the County Planning Commission, but have appealed to the Board of Supervisors, who will act on the Amendment on March 24.

The points are:

Sanitary sewer connections should be required for all hillside subdivision lots less than 2½ acres, when within 2 miles of an existing sewer line.

There should be controls over the construction of roads and driveways across steep slopes, where the average cross slope of the disturbed area is greater than 30 percent.

At higher elevations, one acre minimum lot size should be allowed on slopes less than 15 percent, not 30 percent as proposed.

The Planning Commission has approved an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance which provides for more controls on HillsideDevelopmentthan now exist, but has not been willing to go along with the CVPOA on restrictions such as the three points would provide.

The board asked that as many members turn out for the March 24 hearing as possible, after it unanimously voted to support the adoption of the Hillside Conservation ordinance with its amendments.

POPULATION PROBLEM

The board was also concerned about what it considers a misinterpretation of its position on the future population of Carmel Valley.

Col. George Brown had written letters to all board members as well as county officials, which indicated that he felt the CVPOA was acquiescing in the possible growth of the valley to as many as 43,000 people.

Ed Lee said that the CVPOA found itself in a dilemma -- some accusing it of supporting plans that "would keep people out", and on the other hand of supporting maximum development of the Valley, even on a restricted basis.

The position of the CVPOA is that it supports plans which would limit the probable future population, but does not acquiesce to any maximum figure at all. The Valley Master Plan foresees as many as 20,000 people in the Valley by 1980. Present population is estimated at 7,500.

On the matter of dams on the Carmel River, which have stirred up residents of the Cachagua area, the board took no position at this time. John Woofenden told the meeting that perhaps more light would be shed on the subject at a public meeting called by the Sierra Club, to be held at Brey Hall on the Carmel High School campus on March 19 at 7:30 p.m. Public officials, water company officials and experts will all appear to discuss the matter.

Woofenden said that at this time both the water company and county officials "are changing their minds on where to put the dam every day".

The board was told that a decision on a definite site for the dam would be made within two months.

CARMEL KITE FESTIVAL WILL BE HELD APRIL 11

Carmel's Annual Kite Festival is being planned for Saturday, April 11, said Charles L. Dawson, director of recreation for the Carmel Unified School District. This traditional event is co-sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club and will take place at the Carmel Middle School Athletic Field from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The usual regulations for this contest will apply: each kite must be made by the contestant and must actually get into the air and fly in order to be eligible. Commercial, ready-made kites will be rejected. And kites entered in any previous year will not qualify for entry again this year.

Each kite may be entered in one of the four age groups only -- 8 years and younger -- 9 through 12 years -- 13 through 15 years -- 16 years and over. Three prize categories for all age groups will be the same: 1st -- Highest Flying Kite; 2nd - Best Workmanship; 3rd - Prettiest Kite.

Another prize category will again be included this year for youngsters 12 years and younger who make their kites without adult assistance.

In addition to these prizes the Willis White Trophy, commemorating the founder, will again be awarded for Best International Design and the Ernest Calley Perpetual Plaque Trophy will be awarded for the Grand Champion Kite -- all donated by the Carmel Lions Club.

The kite festival was founded by Rev. Willis White in 1930 and has been held each year since them. It was directed for many years by Ernest Calley, a shop teacher at the former Sunset School who continued to direct the festival for several years after his retirement; in the mid-fifties the Recreation Department of the Carmel Unified School District took it over.

CARMEL VALLEY ROAD REPAIR TO GET UNDERWAY - FINALLY

The Board of Supervisors has approved the contract to repair Carmel Valley Road near Miramonte Road. The contract, for approximately $408,000, was awarded to Granite Construction Company of Monterey.

The project will provide a new roadway paralleling the river channel in lieu of attempting to restore the old roadway on the face of the river bluff. This will permit public traffic to continue its present routes in the vicinity of the project during the construction work.

Cost of the work is being shared by the County and State-Federal Storm Damage funds. The work will start immediately. Scheduled date for completion is late August, 1970.

MRS. CARRUTH RETIRES AS ORGANIST FOR CARMEL CHURCH

Mrs. Connell K. Carruth, organist for the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel, has announced that she will resign after 17½ years as organist of that church. She will return to the Bay Area where she began her musical career.

Mrs. Carruth attended Mills College in Oakland and taught on the faculty there for 31 years. She was organist of St. James Episcopal Church of Oakland for three years, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church for 28 years, and of St. Peters Episcopal Church for 5 years. She came to the Church of the Wayfarer as a supply organist for a month and has been there ever since.

In 1966 the Church of the Wayfarer celebrated her 50th anniversary as a church organist. This outstanding career has now spanned 54 years.

Mrs. Carruth is widely known in musical circles and has made many contributions to its life through these years.

Chamber mulls policy on aid to beautification programs

Should the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce assist the Village Committee in its program of landscaping and maintenance?

This question was posed at last week's chamber meeting by Bob Kvenild, who has been spearheading the village area's beautification program.

Kvenild pointed out that lack of funds imperiled the future of the program, which has done much to improve the appearance of the Village business community. He suggested that $500 would keep the program going, along with additional funds from those business places who were directly benefitting from the work.

Other chamber members agreed that a continuation of the program was definitely an asset to the Valley; they also suggested that the Chamber, if it cooperates with the Village community, should do the same thing for the three other shopping centers in the Valley.

Chuck Strathmeyer, chamber president, suggested that Kvenild meet with Skip Marquard, chairman of the advertising and public relations committee, and come up with a recommendation for the board of directors to act on at the April meeting.

MATCHING FUNDS?

One suggestion to meet the problem pointed out that a policy of "matching funds" be adopted so that other areas could also share in any such program, should they so desire, either on a 1 for 1 basis, or 1 for 2.

Another member suggested that it was likely that 10 Village merchants would contribute $5 a month for 10 months to keep the beautification program going.

Kvenild said that he projected $800 as the budget the Village Committee would need in 1970 – 75 percent of which would be for maintenance of existing areas, and 25 percent for new landscaping.

He said that pruning of oak trees should be undertaken, that the Del Fino Place triangle needed regular cleaning, as did the right-of-way through the Village on Carmel Valley Road, which county work crews cannot adequately service, as well as resurfacing of the sidewalk in front of the garage which was hit by fire.

Kvenild added that the Committee now has only $60 on hand to meet obligations of $108, but that the Carmel Valley Garden Club has already offered to make up this deficit.

The Village Committee operated on a $389 budget in 1968, and a $382 budget in 1969.

DR. ALBERT BAEZ OF CARMEL VALLEY

Baez to head MPC seminar on 'New Ways to Teach'

Dr. Albert Baez of Carmel Valley, a professor of physics at Harvard University and a consultant in new teaching techniques to UNESCO, various foreign countries and many American schools, will stage a multi-media presentation on "New Ways to Teach" in Monterey Peninsula College's Lecture-Forum 102 Wednesday, March 18, at 4 p.m.

The administrators of all local schools have been asked by MPC President George J. Faul to invite their teachers to attend. Members of the MPC faculty will also be on hand, and the general public is cordially invited.

For the past two years, the college and Dr. Baez have cooperated in a joint project with Encyclopedia Britannica in the production of 8mm single-concept films on a broad range of concepts in physics. The filming has been done on campus with two MPC instructors - Cloan Powell and Homer Bosserman - acting as consultants and working with a production crew of Hollywood cameramen, writers, producers and technicians.

Examples of these films will be shown by Dr. Baez, who will also explain and demonstrate his innovative instructional technique, "seminar-autolecture," a system which combines overhead projectors with synchronized audio-tape.

Among the school administrators expected to send representatives to the presentation are Dr. Donald Woodington, superintendent, Monterey; William Carey, superintendent, Pacific Grove; Dr. Harris Taylor, superintendent, Carmel; Adm. Robert McNitt, superintendent, U.S. Naval Postgraduate School; Fulton Freeman, president, Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies; Sister Mary Carlotta, principal, Santa Catalina School for Girls; Sister M. Bonaventure, principal, principal, Junipero Memorial High School; Charles Downs, headmaster, The York School; and Gordon Davis, headmaster, Robert Louis Stevenson School.

COMMUNITY CHAPEL GUILD TO HAVE CARD PARTY ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18

The social club of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will meet in Fellowship Hall on Wednesday, March 18, for bridge and canasta. Dessert will be served at 12:30 preceding the play. Hostess chairman for the meeting is Mrs. William Meyers.

The fun and fellowship of the social club may be shared by any interested women of the community. The contribution of one dollar per person at each meeting goes to the Guild treasury to help support the many worthwhile projects of the Guild.

The Rhyming Philosopher

SEVENTYNINE

Four score less one, an undistinguished age,
Not young, but yet not ready to be junked.
There's still a lot of tempting trails to walk,
A hundred thousand new ideas to stalk
Before my interest becomes defunct
Or reach the chapter's end and turn the page.

If only youth could always hold its place
And give the lie to age, whose waning way
Makes mockery of proud physique as though
This life was not all laughs and mistletoe.
But Age will not be downed, for comes the day
When, much to Youth's surprise, he shows his face!

The joke is thus revealed as Youth turns hoar
And hears behind his back the eager young
Who think they know it all and blithely seize
The chance to capture all the Christmas trees!
Thus Age and Sage watch 'til the trap is sprung
And one more generation hits the door.

And so the circle turns, the past is done;
Whoever molds the future needs our prayer.
Sweet recompense is knowing I once served
Where fatefully the moving circle curved.
So part of me is here and everywhere,
Old in the new, the father in the son.

LUCILE LYON HERBERT stands beside her painting, "Pacific Storm", which she is donating to the Beacon House Art Auction on March 22nd, as a door prize. Mrs. Herbert is a graduate of Castilleja, attended Stanford as an Art Major and studied at the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco. She has studied locally with Clarence Bates, Feg Murray, Kay Rogers, Bennett Bradbury and Nancy Johnson. She is now in her new gallery in the Valley Hills Shopping Center.

Many to assist in Beacon House Benefit Art Auction

Tickets went on sale this week for the Eleventh Annual Beacon House Benefit Art Auction, Sunday, March 22, at the Holiday Inn, Monterey. Sixty-six leading Peninsula artists have contributed their works to this major fund raising event for Beacon House.

Paintings ranging from abstract to landscape, along with sculpture will be auctioned at 2 p.m., Sunday, following a noon luncheon. Tickets are available for both the luncheon and auction at $3.75 or for the auction alone at $1.50. All proceeds go to the Pacific Grove based center for the cure of alcoholism. In its 15 years of operation, Beacon House has sheltered hundreds of sick alcoholics, enabling them to rejoin society as responsible and happy members of the community.

A champagne preview will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday evening, the night before the auction where the public is invited to meet the contributing artists, examine the paintings and leave their closed bids.

An innovation in this year's auction will be three paintings as door prizes donated by Lucile Lyon Herbert, Edward Norton Ward and Jane Landaker. There will also be dinners to four fine Peninsula restaurants and other prizes.

Awards will be presented to Artists receiving highest bids: 1st place - $200, 2nd place - $100, and 3rd place - $50.

Tickets are available at Beacon House, 468 Pine St., Pacific Grove and Thunderbird Book Store, Carmel Valley.

BY PAT GRIFFITH

In recent weeks public attention has been drawn to the pressing need for more water for the growing population of Monterey County, and the very complicated problem of how to get it.

The California American Water Company has disclosed it is definitely planning a new dam on the upper Carmel River, and is giving first attention to a large reservoir in the Cachagua Valley.

The Outlook has already talked with many Cachagua residents about the possible dam. Last week the following question was asked of other Valleyites:

"What is your reaction to the possibility that a major dam will be built in Cachagua Valley?"

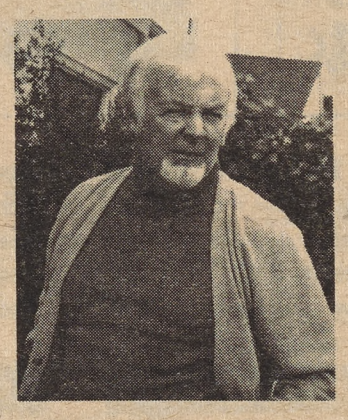
These were the answers.

- Photos by George T.C. Smith

"Terrible!" Dr. David Morris, Pilot Road

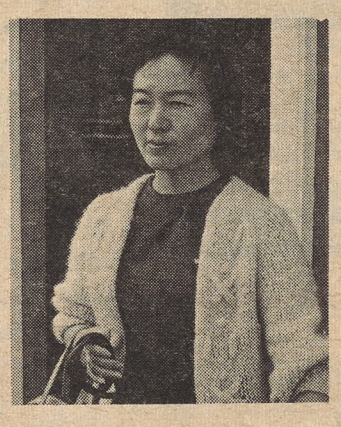
"I think that the position of the Sierra Club has to be explored. The question of the overall water development has to be looked at real hard." Victor Colton, Panetta Road

"I hate to see it happen. I really do. I really feel if there has to be a dam they could put it back farther and not destroy all the homes. It seems we're being pushed further and further, and so many things are being taken away from us. So many of us came here to one of the most beautiful spots in the world. I think we should think more of aesthetic values. I was looking at a map of the area the other day. I felt there must be another place up there the dam could go, near where there is another dam." Mrs. Richard Dick, Garzas Road



"I am concerned about every aspect of it, about our water supply and from whence commeth the water supply. I think we should be concerned citizens and evaluate every possibility. Let's not start with our conclusions; let's arrive at our conclusions after studying every possibility. I can understand why people are upset. We need water, and if we could only start now doing what is right." Morden Buck, La Rancheria

"I think it would be a shame to use that site if there is another one available. I'd like to preserve the Cachagua for its uniqueness. I don't like the way Cal-American has gone about it. They are treating us like a lot of country bumpkins, and I think they're going to find out we aren't all country bumpkins living here." Mrs. Kirk Davidson, Los Ranchitos



"I think it is a shame they have to flood the whole valley if there is any other way to get the water. But if that's the only way, it will have to come." Kazuko French, El Cammito

"Personally I think there are other places. The Sur has never been tapped. I think there are enough dams in Carmel Valley now." Mrs. R.B. Stoney, Carmel Valley Road

"I hope they do it. I hate to see that country put under water, but 20 years from now what will we do for water? That's where it belongs, up in that mountainous country, rather than down here on the Russell Ranch." Leon Shappell, River Road

PLAN TO SWITCH ALL 6TH GRADERS TO MIDDLE SCHOOL NEXT YEAR

Plans to switch the sixth grade from Tularcitos and Captain Cooper schools to Carmel Middle School next year will be discussed at the meeting of the Carmel Board of Education tonight (Wednesday, March 11).

Supt. of Schools Harris Taylor has urged interested parents to attend the meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Brey Hall of Carmel High School.

In a letter sent to parents, Taylor said that children who enter Middle School in the sixth grade have several advantages over those who arrive a year later.

Those who enter as sixth graders hold most of the leadership positions in the school, he said, and also have the benefit of specialized facilities for crafts, languages, and physical education.

Several members of the Board have said in the past they think the district's program should be uniform throughout, with all grammar schools serving grades kindergarten through five.

Tularcitos principal George Gustafson, who will attend tonight's meeting, said about 78 students now in the fifth grade at Tularcitos will be affected if the change is made. There are presently 64 sixth graders at Tularcitos.

If the sixth grade is moved to Middle School, Gustafson said that will ease the space problem at Tularcitos and enable the school to absorb anticipated growth for the next five years.

"I can't see any reason why not to build the dam, for myself personally. Although I know a lot of my friends are uptight about it." Alan Stoltzfus, Hitchcock Canyon

"What they're discovering about dams in general is they're not a long range solution to the water problem. I think we should think two or three times before building a dam anywhere, because it can change the whole ecology of a region." Albert Baez, La Rancheria

"I'm really not too familiar with the problems up there. If I had property up there I'd feel differently than I would living down here.It would probably be to the advantage of this part of the Valley." Mrs. Elizabeth Bates, Hitchcock Canyon

'Family Portrait', a special drama at Circle Theatre

"Family Portrait", a special Easter presentation by the Community Theatre, will be given eight performances at the Circle Theatre in Carmel, opening March 20. It features a 21 member cast with Betty Fowlston as Mary, mother of Christ, and Gertrude Chappell as her sister-in-law, Mary Cleophas. The production is under the direction of Michael Keller.

"Family Portrait" is the reverent story of a woman who was the mother of Jesus. It is a play of biblical characters, although the dialogue is not spoken in the phraseology of the Bible. The writing elaborates in the terms of an ordinary family, which acts and speaks as we do today. The recounting of Mary's life, amid her family and neighbors during the last three years of Christ's life, is told in terms of the hopes, dreams, joys and sorrows of a mother for her child.

Jesus does not appear. It is a play of His influence reflected in a group of people who are a diversified lot. Only Mary has faith in Jesus. Her family resent Him as a fanatic and a radical who hurts their business, their marriage prospects and the family name.

Mary timidly journeys to Capernaum and hears the crowds speak admiringly of her son's teachings. As the months wear on she grows more anxious. The fickle crowd has turned from its cries of Hosannah to shouts of hatred. Finally, on the day that is now known as Holy Thursday, Mary arrives in Jerusalem, and there with Mary Magdalen in the upper room after the Last Supper, awaits Jesus's return from Gethsemane.

The final scene is laid in Nazareth several years after the crucifixion, where all except Mary, still labors under the selfish and blind delusion that they have been disgraced. Christ's teachings continue to be taught by His disciples, and Mary's only hope now is that her Son will not be forgotten.

"Family Portrait" was written by Lenore Coffee and William Joyce Cowen, and starred Judith Anderson in the New York presentation. The special performance schedule at the Circle Theatre is as follows: March 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday, March 22 at 7:30 p.m.; Wednesday through Saturday, March 25 through 28 at 8:30 p.m.; and a special matinee performance Easter Sunday at 2:30 in the afternoon. Reservations for all performances may be made now by calling 624-2669.

1970 Bach Festival program promises interest, beauty

Programs of unusual interest and diversity and soloists of international rank will attract audiences from all over this country for the 33rd annual Carmel Bach Festival, July 17th through July 26th.

Conductor Sandor Salgo will be observing his fifteenth year as musical director of the famed Festival Orchestra, Chorus and Chorale. Priscilla Salgo and Kenneth Ahrens will again serve as the musical director's choral assistants.

Sunset Auditorium will be the setting for the evening and matinee concerts with most of the morning recitals held in the Parish Hall of All Saints Episcopal Church. The famed Mission concert will be held on Wednesday, July 22nd at 10:00 p.m. in the Carmel Mission Basilica and Mr. Salgo has plans to perform music from the Golden Age of Spain and the Missions of the New World.

Thomas Paul, one of America's leading basses who is in constant demand as soloist with major orchestras and recording companies and beloved by Festival audiences, will be a featured soloist in Bach's Mass in B minor on Sunday, July 19th as will Mary Ellen Pracht, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera; tenor, Seth McCoy; contralto, Christine Krooskos and baritone, Douglas Lawrence who will make his fourth appearance in Festival programs.

Donald Peck, solo flutist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, will be a new name on the Festival soloists' roster and will add his brilliance to several of the programs. Miss Sonya Monosoff, distinguished violinist from Massachusetts, will be another outstanding new soloist as will Madame Joanna Graudan, southern California pianist who is a member of the music faculty of the School of Performing Arts at the University of Southern California. Fernando Valenti, internationally known harpsichordist, Jascha Silberstein, first cellist with the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, Ladd Thomas, organist and Anne Adams, harpist, will join such familiar names as Mary Esther Nicola, soprano; Glenna deWeese, contralto; Raymond Duste, oboe; Edward Haug, trumpet; Christopher Williams, lute; Ralph Linsley, harpsichord; and Kenneth Ahrens, organ, in making the 1970 Festival worthy of widespread attention.

In addition to the Mass in B minor, Mr. Salgo has programmed a concert performance of Mozart's "Magic Flute", Handel's Ode, "Alexander's Feast", and an evening of "Homage to the Baroque" with music by romantic and contemporary composers upon whom the baroque had a direct influence.

WILLIAM MASSELOS, PIANIST, TO APPEAR AT SUNSET MARCH 19

For its third concert of the season the Carmel Music Society will present William Masselos, pianist, at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel on Thursday, March 19, at 8:30 p.m.

William Masselos was born in Niagara Falls, New York and was raised in Colorado Springs, Colorado. He had given three major recitals before his ninth birthday and began studies with the late Carl Friedberg at the Juilliard School of Music when he was twelve. At the age of eighteen he made his New York debut at Town Hall. Since then he has concertized widely on the two continents of the Americas and Europe.

Although widely known for his performance of the classical repertoire, Mr. Masselos is also regarded as a champion of contemporary music. He has been responsible for many world premiers among which are included the First Piano Sonata of Charles Ives, Aaron Copland's Piano Fantasy and most of the major keyboard music of Ben Weber. With the New York Philharmonic Mr. Masselos gave the first performance of the Weber Piano Concerto, a work he commissioned in connection with a Ford Foundation grant.

Tickets for this concert may be obtained by calling the Music Society's Box Office at the Friar Tuck Bookstore in Carmel.

Rippling River holds first Davis Cup tennis match

A junior tennis program is now underway in Carmel Valley, sponsored by the Rippling River Racquet Club, located at the Rippling River Resort.

In the first Junior Davis Club match ever held in Monterey County, Richard Beechler of Carmel Valley defeated Lonnie Davis of Jamesburg 6-3, 3-6, 6-1.

This new junior adult tennis program is authorized by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Any young men between the ages of 16 and 21 are eligible for this program, and if interested may contact Mrs. Evelyn Merz, director, at the Rippling River.

There has never been a USLTA Junior Cup program in Monterey County. The Junior Wightman Cup is for young women and the Junior Davis Cup for young men. These programs are designed not only to introduce newcomers to the game of tennis, but also to gather the better players within the county into training squads, organize practice sessions, ladder matches, exhibitions, team competition and major tournament activities.

The Monterey County Junior Wightman Cup and Junior Davis Cup teams have already been invited to play matches with organized teams at Las Vegas, Reno, Modesto, Salt Lake City and Boise on a home-and-home basis.

Selections of local teams will be by competition and training sessions on Saturdays and Sundays at Rippling River. There is no fee to sign up and try out.

Rippling River has started the restoration of the two present courts, and are laying the foundation for two additional courts, plus an exhibition court, or center court, for tournament play and match games.

This exhibition court will be directly below the outdoor dining patio, and in front of the Tennis Pro Shop where many spectators may enjoy watching the sport. Future plans call for the construction of five additional courts so that many tournaments and team competition matches will be conducted at the Rippling River Racquet Club.

THE PAINSTAKING EFFORT involved in pressing and later arranging and gluing fragile leaves and flowers is evident in this miniature "nature portrait" by Ursula Swigart. Mrs. Swigart has also kept nature scrapbooks of her travels throughout Europe.

- Photos by George T.C. Smith

BRIGHT BITS of acacia are dried and pressed for future use in a miniature picture by Ursula Swigart of Hacienda Carmel. Mrs. Swigart has incorporated tiny blooms from throughout the Monterey Peninsula into the pictures she now has on display at the American Savings and Loan Association office in Monterey.

NEW EXHIBITION BY A CARMEL VALLEY ARTIST ...

THE DELICATE ART OF URSULA SWIGART

Some of nature's most delicate works of art are on display this month at the American Savings and Loan Association office on Alvarado Street in Monterey.

The 48 framed miniatures of fragile wildflowers, weeds and sections of seaweed represent countless hours of painstaking work by a Hacienda Carmel artist and nature lover, Ursula Swigart.

"I work with the tiniest, mostly unseen things ... what people usually step on," she explains.

Wherever she goes she collects delicate flowers and presses them immediately in her "blotter book." When the plant or flowers have dried, she is ready to start the tedious, exacting process of mounting them on fabric.

Her background is usually black velvet, although she also chooses various colors of silk for variety. Using tweezers, she carefully glues every piece in place, making sure that nothing will slip when the glass is put on top.

"It takes a lot of patience," she says, "but I am so happy that I can bring these little beauties to the public."

She has perfected her talent through trial and error. Seaweed posed the most difficult challenge at first "because they're all juice." When she pressed them in her standard blotter book, the seaweed dried, but the blotter paper stuck to it.

So she tried a new system, pressing the seaweed between sheets of perforated waxed paper with blotting paper on the outside. That was successful.

A native of Germany, Mrs. Swigart and her husband Howard have lived in the Valley since 1958. Her great appreciation of nature stems from her father, an inveterate hiker who savored the beauty of the German Alps. She still has some eidelweiss her father picked and dried when he was a young man in 1880.

All her life she has kept scrapbooks of dried flowers, carefully noting the date and place where each was found. When the Swigarts spent seven months in Europe in 1963, she picked tiny souveniers from every stop along the way.

"Now I can look through the pages and see my whole life spelled out in flowers," she laughs.

CVPOA opposes bus park near Del Mesa Carmel

The School Bus Yard should be located at the Middle School. Period.

This was the position taken at last week's meeting of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Assn.

The matter came up for review, following a decision by the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified School District to pursue the possibility of locating the controversial bus park in Roach Canyon, near Del Mesa Carmel.

Board members voted unanimously to recommend that the only satisfactory site is on existing property at Middle School. An acre or so, it has been reported, was originally set aside for this purpose at the south end of the Middle School property, fronting on the extension of Rio Road.

While CVPOA directors had earlier endorsed the Middle School site, it had not opposed the Roach Canyon site, as it had the Carmelo School site. Now it definitely opposes both Roach Canyon and Carmelo School.

Other opposition to the Roach Canyon site was also reported at the meeting.

Don McLeon, president of Del Mesa Carmel, was unalterably opposed.

GREENBELT ONLY?

Mrs. Graham Matthews was said to have stated that the 15 acres was set aside as a greenbelt for public use, but this did not include an industrial use, even by public agencies.

Bus drivers were reported to have said that they prefer the Middle School site.

Others pointed out that canyons, such as Roach Canyon, "are one place one is close to nature", and that if possible they should be preserved at all costs.

The conservation factor was uppermost in the minds of the CVPOA board members, apparently, when they voted against any development near Del Mesa Carmel.

The proposal for a bus park there also includes use of part of the hidden canyon area by the County of Monterey for a road department maintenance yard, and, fronting on Carmel Valley Road, a new fire department substation, serving the middle and lower valley.

The Carmel Unified School district board of trustees, as things now stand, is letting the road department carry the ball on the Roach Canyon site. An application for a use permit for the 3-way development will be heard by the County Planning Commission on March 25 at Salinas.

The item is not on the agenda for tonight's (Wednesday) meeting of the Carmel school board.

FANTASYLAND IS NEXT WEEKEND

BOB WOOD REPORTS. . .

A REGULAR COLUMN BY BOB WOOD, ASSEMBLYMAN - 34TH DISTRICT

Things are beginning to get a little warm here in Sacramento as most of you know and this time I am not relating to the local weather conditions. It's not a healthy condition when a couple of Senators with many years of service in Sacramento and who have known each other for many years fail to greet or acknowledge the others presence in the small confines of the capitol elevator.

The Senate appears to have their problems at the moment but as in most cases I think the end results will be more strict regulations and laws concerning campaign funding and reporting to the general public, who have every right to know at all times. I can't help but feel that all members of the Senate regardless of which particular faction they happen to be on at the moment will be glad to have a set of rules to go by, so that the incident we have all seen on TV and read about in our local newspapers will never again need be an issue of concern to the legislator or the public.

Here in the Assembly an interesting and revealing incident came out the other day and as it effects all of us I thought you would be interested. It seems the money allocated to build our freeways is now proportioned so that the 13 counties in Southern California receive 55 percent of the total and those in the 45 northern counties receive 45 percent of the total amount. Through the one man one vote procedure enacted into law a few years ago, the Assemblymen south of the Tehachapi mountains began to realize that they had more Assemblymen in total numbers than the number of Assemblymen that represented all 45 Northern California counties which includes our own Monterey County.They asked approval of a bill which would give Southern California 60 percent of the total monies for freeways and leave us in Northern California only 40 percent of the total money to be distributed.

Their principal argument in favor of such a split was the fact that they could prove that 61.6 percent of the population, 60.3 percent of the assessed valuation and 61 percent of the motor vehicles were in the 13 Southern California counties.

Our principal argument in opposition was that Los Angeles has done nothing about bonding themselves for a special rapid transit district to help solve their problem and more freeways would just add to the dangerous smog problem which is already forcing the evaquation of almost 25,000 people a year from that area due to emphysema, bronchitis, and so on. However there are not enough of us in the 45 northern counties, and the 13 Southern California counties mustered 43 votes, and, in an 80 man legislature every day arithmetic reveals to us the fact that Southern California in a strictly geographical issue, now has the votes.

If this measure gets through the Senate Transportation committee and the Senate also, the end result will be an even further slowing up of much needed freeway construction here in our own Monterey county. You have all heard the old saying, "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em". Maybe our next best move is to try and move the southern district a little further north where Monterey county would be considered part of the southern district and we could share in the 60 percent road allocation instead of a portion of the 40 percent recommended for the Northern California counties.

Enough for now ... BOB WOOD

and your winter PG&E bills go up.

But look at the brighter side. Think of all the delicious hot meals, cozy warmth, television watching and other indoor comforts you're now enjoying. You're buying a lot more PG&E energy to make winter a lot less disagreeable. And spring's just around the corner. That means the temperature will soon go back up. And your PG&E bill will go back down again.

RICHARD BRAGG NOT TO RUN FOR CLERK: ENDORSES MAGGINI

Richard Bragg of Carmel Point has declared himself out of the race for County Clerk in the June 2 elections, and has endorsed the candidacy of Ernest Maggini of Salinas.

"Maggini is a quiet, capable and efficient government servant," Bragg said. "I feel he will bring to the office of County Clerk-Recorder the kind of leadership he has demonstrated so successfully as jury commissioner.

"I would ask all those who encouraged me to file for that office to support Ernie Maggini instead".

FIRST AID GIVEN

The Carmel Valley Fire Department gave emergency first aid treatment to Frank Craig of El Cammito Road last Wednesday when he was involved in an automobile accident at Carmel Valley Road and Ford Road. He was treated for a lacerated forehead and released.

There were no fire calls last week.
